

Some Reasons Not Political.

Address of Rev. M. B. Adams, President of the Kentucky Anti-Saloon League.

Coming from the President of an organization whose business it is to wipe the saloon out of existence, it will be read with great interest. Mr. Adams gives facts and arguments.

The question is asked why should the Democratic voters of the State who will participate in the November primary election for the selection of nominees for United States Senator and State officers support the candidacy of Governor Beckham over that of Senator McCreary for the United States Senatorship. Right well can this question be answered by the friends and advocates of the Governor, and they should welcome the putting of such a question. Especially true is this of those Democrats who endorse enforcement of statute law without fear or favor, and who believe that the Governor has done his duty in the recommendation and the enforcement of laws proposing to regulate the sale of liquor and observance of the Sabbath. It can be said for Senator McCreary that he has grown old in the service of the party, but has it not been at so much per service? He has been on the pay roll of the State of Kentucky or of the National Government since before his opponent was born. He has had every honor that his party could bestow upon him during all these years, and returning him to the Senate for another six years after his present term would be but making of him a time server at an annual salary of five thousand dollars, when no one who has ever waged political battle with him will say that he needs the money.

Now to answer the question why Governor Beckham should be selected over him for the Senatorial nomination in the November primary election. Good and sufficient answers are so numerous and come so readily to those who have watched the public career of Kentucky's Governor that we have had to group them under nine headings, with the addition of some sub-headings, going a little into details. His friends should carefully peruse the reasons, for they are in the main matters which relate to the chief issue of the present campaign, the question of regulation of the sale of liquor without influence from the vicious element which controls the traffic in the State of Kentucky. This element is championing the cause of Senator McCreary. He cannot get away from their support if he would, and no one will accuse the Madison statesman of getting away from any character of support in a political fight, for he is a believer in the use of the "sinews" of war. But, regardless of what position he personally may occupy, the argument is the same. No man, until Governor Beckham loomed upon the public horizon in Kentucky, ever came out, while the recognized leader of one of the dominant political parties, for regulation of the liquor traffic, and for the enforcement of all laws touching it without regard to whether or not his position had endorsement of those engaged in the business. Because of his taking this position, and not because they favor Senator McCreary's candidacy, and in order to make of him an example for all future Governors of the Commonwealth who may have an ambition to go higher and represent their State in the National Congress, this lawless and for the most part vicious element has determined, if possible, to encompass his defeat. Shall they be permitted to accomplish their purpose, is a matter of whether or not Mr. McCreary shall be returned to Washington under a promise, which he is willing to give that he will at the close of his term retire.

Now for a resume of the Governor's actions during his public service which affect in more or less degree the issue of the campaign.

The Exquisite Garment Models For Fall.

They're All Ready.

Charming indeed, with an abundance of style with every new design thought thrown in.

These garments represent the masterstroke of high class tailoring, free from the sweat shops--made in well lighted--well ventilated establishments by men tailors well up in the art of ideal garment-making.

Perfection, Yes! From the button-holes to the inner linings. These are not the products of ill paid labor, but worthy Fall Suits, and Jackets and Cloaks. Skirts that rank among the "best" in one of the finest tailoring shops in the country.

Notably among the New Fall Creations is the Price Chap---a sturdy little suit for women, with just enough style in the make-up to fascinate the careful dresser. Then comes the Pony Jacket Suits---chic and embodying the correct principles which go to make up the perfect costumes. And there's a score of other good creations ready and willing to pass the most careful inspection.

Jackets in the trim fall shapes and coats of the long and gracefully flowing styles. Raincoats of superb styles. Skirts in the fashion formed pleating effects.

And all priced---surprisingly low priced.

SHOULD VOTE FOR GOVERNOR BECKHAM BECAUSE OF THE SERVICE RENDERED BY HIM TO THE CAUSE OF GOOD MORALS.

The following provisions of the local option laws of Kentucky have been placed on the statute book during his administration and by his active support and assistance. Let the temperance man read this catalogue and ask himself the question if he can afford to join the liquor enemies of the man who has helped to do so much for the moral interests of Kentucky.

Putting offenses against the local option law within the jurisdiction of magistrate's courts, thus avoiding the delay of Circuit Courts.

Making the person who furnishes a house, room, wagon, &c., to an alleged liquor seller jointly liable with the vendor.

Simplifying the form of indictments against illegal sellers of liquor, avoiding the complications of the old law and rendering convictions easier.

Making the possession of a United States revenue stamp prima facie evidence of guilt.

Requiring the convicted party to give bond after a second or subsequent conviction and giving the court discretion to increase that bond.

In the case of "C. O. D. Shipments," into prohibition territory, the place of delivery is made the place of sale and the carrier and his agents made jointly liable with the vendor.

Forbidding all subdivisions of a county to vote separately on the same day the county votes except cities of the first, second, third and fourth classes. The effect of this is to make the county a unit except when first, second, third and fourth class cities vote separately on the same day. In all other cases the county controls.

Forbidding any precinct in a city to vote separately on the same day the city votes. This makes the city a unit against the precincts which compose it when the city wishes to exercise its option.

In the case of an election for a county or city, if the county or city goes dry, the whole territory is controlled by that vote. If the county or city goes wet the sections which have, previous to election, been under prohibition, remain as if no vote had been taken.

Forbidding the shipment of liquors into prohibition territory by paid carriers, except that individuals may bring in not more than one gallon at a time and physicians and druggists not more than five gallons at any one time.

Forbidding the wholesaling of liquors in prohibition territory except by manufacturers selling at the place of manufacture and not to be drunk on the premises.

The bill which has interested the people of the State more than any other is the "County Unit Bill." This could not have been passed without the aid of Governor Beckham.

Numbers of counties are now voting dry. They will owe their freedom from saloons to the work of Gov. Beckham, in large measure.

Kentucky stands about first among the American Commonwealths in the high development of her local option laws. This high point has been reached during the present administration which will go down in the State's history as the era of a great moral reform.

Worthy of commendation is the gallant fight made by the Governor against the powerful rectifying and adulterating interests during the Legislature of 1906, which resulted in putting a heavy tax on that business. While this was not a prohibition fight it was a just one and the services of our executive are entitled to recognition.

The liquor interests suffering so severely from this superb system of temperance legislation have combined for Gov. Beckham's defeat as a punishment. No Democrat who stands for the temperance issue can afford to join the enemies of moral reform and law enforcement and help them accomplish their purpose.

2. GOV. BECKHAM SHOULD BE SUPPORTED IN ORDER TO REFUTE THE OFT REPEATED CHARGE THAT THE TEMPERANCE PEOPLE WILL NOT SUSTAIN PUBLIC OFFICIALS WHEN THEY STAND FOR MORAL ISSUES IN FACE OF THE ANTAGONISM OF THE LIQUOR INTERESTS.

It is a sort of maxim in politics that one saloon keeper is worth a dozen church members when it comes to active citizenship and the support of officials who do the bidding of affected interests. This is why the saloon is powerful in politics. If the saloon keeper is interested in not having the law enforced, he votes for an official who will do what he wants and stands by him to the last. This very thing temperance people have got to do if they succeed in obtaining and enforcing laws which will enable them to control the liquor traffic. If they do not, they play into the hands of the criminal element and become their pliant tools. There is no alternative for the temperance Democrat in this campaign. He must support Gov. Beckham because his ruin has been decreed by the saloon people who would thus punish him for having served the moral needs of the State.

3. THE DEFEAT OF GOV. BECKHAM IN THE NOVEMBER PRIMARY WOULD FURNISH THE LIQUOR FORCES OF KENTUCKY WITH THE INSPIRATION OF A POLITICAL VICTORY WHICH WOULD NERVE THEM TO GREATER EFFORTS AND DISCOURAGE THOSE WHO STAND FOR RIGHT THINGS.

For years the temperance people

"NO CURE, NO PAY"

How W. S. Lloyd Sells Hyomei. The Guaranteed Cure For Catarrh.

W. S. Lloyd has an unusual offer to make to our readers, one that will be of the greatest value to many.

For some years W. S. Lloyd has been watching the results from the use of Hyomei, a treatment for catarrh that cures by breathing medicated air, absolutely without any stomach dosing. The results have been so universally successful that he feels justified in making a public offer to treat the worst case of catarrh in Mt. Sterling with the understanding that if Hyomei does not cure, the treatment will cost absolutely nothing.

The regular Hyomei outfit costs only one dollar, and consists of a neat pocket inhaler that can be carried in the purse or vest-pocket, a medicine dropper; and bottle of Hyomei. If this is not enough for a cure, extra bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50 cents.

W. S. Lloyd positively guarantees a cure, if Hyomei is used in accordance with directions, or he will refund the money. 11-13 of Kentucky have been seeking reasonable legislation. During the last Legislature a great victory was gained and the whisky forces thrown into confusion. They found with surprise that they were without political influence. One of their leaders said they were without a friend in the State administration. This was a great and depressing blow to them.

But they must try to regain their lost ground. The first move in the campaign for the control of the public and political life of Kentucky is to become again a potent political power, able to defeat and elect candidates for office. They select as a first victim Gov. Beckham, during whose administration and by whose help our truly great system of local option laws has been built up. They reason that if they can defeat him no future Governor will ever have the courage to do anything hostile to the liquor business. The question which now confronts the Democracy is, will the party allow the liquor interests to use it to wreak its vengeance on Gov. Beckham, and enable them to win the first battle of their campaign to regain control of the State? The Democratic party must meet the Republican party next year when local option will be one of the main issues. It cannot afford to go into battle with a liquor victory charged to its account in the November primary. A whisky victory over Gov. Beckham means the encouragement of our enemies and the great discouragement of those who have borne the brunt of the fight for years.

4. BECKHAM'S DEFEAT WOULD ENTHRONED THE LIQUOR FORCES IN POSITIONS OF POLITICAL INFLUENCE AND POWER WHICH THEY WILL USE FOR THEIR OWN ADVANTAGE AND THE HURT OF THE PEOPLE.

Credit the liquor people with large common sense. They have been using more of that article than the temperance have as a rule. Jesus Christ said that "the children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light." Translated into ordinary speech this means that bad men use more shrewdness and wisdom in accomplishing their purpose than good men do in achieving theirs. The liquor people will try to use many a deluded temperance Democrat in Kentucky this November to win a victory over Gov. Beckham.

When the liquor forces line up behind one candidate and against another it is not that they have any personal preference in the matter but that they have made a bargain and that there is some great advantage to their business in so doing.

They are plotting Gov. Beckham's defeat, not that they prefer his opponent, but that they see a position of great advantage for their business by doing it.
